

The National Whig
THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 6, 1847.
FOR PRESIDENT, IN 1848,
MAJOR GENERAL
ZACHARY TAYLOR.
OF LOUISIANA,
THE HERO
OF
PALO ALTO, RESACA DE LA PALMA,
MONTEREY,
And Buena Vista.
Subject to the decision of the Whig National Convention.

The Tory Union admits that General Taylor will break up the tory party organization. Nay, sir, he has already done it!

The Tory Union boasts of the popular enthusiasm in favor of the war! But the same paper boasts of the popular enthusiasm in favor of Mr. Polk, who made the war!

Governor Shunk, of Pennsylvania, has pardoned one John Coggins, found guilty of horse stealing. How natural for the Tories to sympathize with their brethren of the Coggins family, for Coggins is, from the nature of this offence, a freebooter, alias a plunderer of other men's substances, alias a tory!

How this world is overrun with humbugs.

Two years more, says the Pittsburg Telegraph, will rid the political world of the greatest humbug we ever heard of—James K. Polk.

A citizen of New York residing in South Brooklyn was murdered a few nights ago on his way to his dwelling between the hours of nine and ten o'clock, P. M.

Last week Polk and his Cabinet held a levee in honor of Gen. Tom Thumb. The most appropriate thing we have heard of from Washington since Mr. Polk's election, says the Troy Post.

Messrs. John Ross and William S. Coodey, have been nominated for the first chief; Joseph Vann and Richard Taylor for second chief, of the Cherokee nation under their new constitution. The general election comes off in August next.

On the 27th of last month a fire burned buildings in St. Louis valued at $50,000.

They have received a mail at St. Louis from Santa Fe to the 29th of March. It contained the details of the battle of Sacramento.

There is nothing in the whole course of this active war which surpasses our victory at the Sacramento! Tory Union.

Always excepting the recent Tory victory in the Old Dominion!

THE FRENCH STEAMERS.—The Courier des Etats Unis says that the first steamer will not leave for New York before the 15th day of May or the 1st of June. Aymer & Co. of New York are the agents.

Capt. Cutler, who is known to fame as the author of the most brilliant poem of the age—"The Song of Steam"—commanded the Kenton Rangers in the battle of Buena Vista, and behaved himself most gallantly throughout the action.

The tory Boston Post charges the Whig party with the design of taking advantage of the comprehensive and vigorous military policy of the Administration. Ha, ha, ha!!! He, he, he!!! Ho, ho, ho!!!

A few evenings since a lady seventy years of age, was turning the corner of Fifth and Walnut streets, Philadelphia, on her way to a daughter's residence, a short distance below, she was assailed by three boys, one of whom had the audacity to dash a handful of mortar into her face, covering one eye completely, and causing the most intense anguish. The mortal, entering the eye, endangered the sight, and though she has since been under the hands of the most eminent physician, the danger is not considered as passed.

They have an illumination in New York to-morrow evening in honor of the victory of Buena Vista &c., and Saturday will be kept as a day of mourning for the gallant dead who have fallen in the war with Mexico. The shipping is to display flags at half mast, the churches are to be opened, the bells are to toll and business generally is to be suspended. This is a proper thing. May the prayers offered up on that day for a peace be speedily realized!

The Tory Union is terribly distressed because the friends of General Taylor advocate his election upon different grounds—the Whigs because he is a staunch Whig and the Neutralists because they consider him as a no-party man and the Democrats because they regard him as a sound Democrat. We sympathize with the "obscure abstraction" of the Union in his sorrow, but we do not see any way to prevent the sovereign people from electing General Taylor, and from doing it on just such grounds as they are pleased to assume!

It is fortunate, says an eye witness, there were few Americans at Vera Cruz when Scott and Perry drew up their forces around it, for I know not how or where they would have found a refuge. Certainly not at the hands of their own countrymen. I but state what I saw, when I declare that the four or five citizens of the United States who were driven out by the bombardment, wandered from vessel to vessel soliciting shelter, and were everywhere refused, if they did not preface their request by the display of the omnipotent dollar.

A vulgar and dotting mother, expatiating on the domestic qualities of her daughter to one whose regard she desired to attract, says: "Oh, Mr. Cresley, could you see my daughter engaged in her household duties! She is almost perfect in the kitchen. She even peels potatoes with a peculiar grace!" "Madam," said Cresley, gravely, "would that I were a potato!"

Fire at Flushing, Long Island, on Saturday last—$15,000.

TORY TRICKERY.
The grand effort of the Tory party, just now, is to make it appear, that the Whigs are not serious in their advocacy of Gen. Taylor for the next President, that they design merely to avail themselves, as a party, of his immense popularity, and then to drop him and take up some other candidate more to their liking.

This charge comes with bad grace from a party that is notorious for this very policy of using a man for party purposes and then dropping him and taking up any other person who can promote its purpose of plundering the public treasury. It held on to Mr. Van Buren through all Mr. Tyler's administration with a bulldog tenacity, but when it found that this election was not achievable, it unceremoniously dropped him and took up James K. Polk.

But is there any ground upon which the Tories may even ostensibly base their allegation that the Whigs purpose to adopt the Tory policy of expediency in this matter of General Taylor and the Presidency? None, in the least. There is not even the shadow of a basis for their accusation.

The Whigs in their primary meetings, and the Whig presses generally throughout the Union, have declared their preference for General Taylor as the next President. They have done so with a deep-felt sincerity that cannot be mistaken. Every day, every hour, this feeling is spreading and taking stronger hold of men's hearts. It has already become an irresistible feeling; and yet the Whigs have no intention of throwing aside the ordinary party organization, which, with them, is not to dictate what the Whigs of the Union shall do, but to give form and embodiment to their preferences, by declaring to the world what those preferences are, and which is to put in motion the proper machinery for carrying into effect their will. The Tories see, with half an eye, that long ere the time arrives for the assembling of the National Whig Convention, there will be but one voice in the party, and that voice will be for the invincible Taylor; but they are animated by the vain and desperate hope, that, if they can in any manner fix upon the Whigs the suspicion of a design to touse the Hero of the battle fields of Mexico for party purposes, they will be able, in some degree, to arrest the defection which is daily going on in the ranks of the Democratic party threatening its utter dissolution. But no such base idea as that of using the name of the merciful Hero of Monterey, for party purposes has entered the minds of the Whigs. They treat with the scorn and contempt it deserves the imputation. It is only worthy of the source whence it comes. The Whigs know Gen. Taylor to be a Whig, to be a sound statesman, to be an honest and a good man,—they know him to be the greatest General the world has ever produced, for he has fought four battles, the like of which is not to be found in the annals of war, and he has written their history. The Whigs know him to be a man who loves and reveres the constitution, and whose ambition it will be to sustain not overturn constitutional government. They are in earnest, deep, abiding earnest in their desire to make him the President. It is the Whigs who have said that he shall be President, not Gen. Taylor who has said, I wish to be President. No, No, Messrs. Tories, who scribble for the Union and its satellites,—your effort is in vain. Honest Democrats by the thousand will vote for the old Hero. There is not a leading Whig statesman in the country who does not glory in Zachary Taylor and who will not stand in the presence of such a man as Chief Magistrate, with the proud satisfaction of knowing that he is a man in all things, a statesman equal to the best of them. Quiet your fears, Messrs. Tories, the Whigs are for Gen. Taylor now and forever. When Mr. Polk made this Mexican war to make himself President a second time, he forgot the maxim, that when a civilian makes a war in a Republic, the war makes his successor out of the Hero of that war. God, in his kind Providence, hath raised up Zachary Taylor one of his brightest and noblest creatures, out of this cruel war, to restore this Republic to its pristine purity and glory, and no earthly power can prevent his elevation to the Presidency. Cease then your vain opposition, and bow to the popular will.

Who shall say that nothing good has come to us from Mexico! Not the ladies certainly, for the Mexican cactus has supplied to them the prettiest material for bonnets that even Yankee invention has yet thought of employing. This material is the fibre of the plant—fine as silk, lustrous as silver, and strong as any thing need be. The bonnet, when made up, is called the Cicilian; why the word "Mexican" was not adopted we do not know. The lady editor of the Boston Transcript gives it her unqualified approbation; and it has, moreover, the superlative merit of being easily cleaned, with only soap and water, and coming out from the process as beautiful and durable as ever. Higgins of N. York are the makers, and they are all the vogue in that city.

A young man named Charles H. Smith, aged only 23 years, was hung, or rather tortured, slowly smothered and worried to death, at Hickman, Ky., on the 20th inst., for the murder of Abraham O. Tyler. A small cotton rope was placed around his neck, which broke when the drop fell. The victim lay stretched on his back for some minutes upon the ground in great agony and apparently dying. But he recovered sufficiently to again ascend the platform. This time the sheriff went to the other extreme, using a rope or cable so large and rough that he was swung off, the tortured man was still sticking, apparently in great agony. Horrible! This is a civilized community and in this age!

People of the United States, hear you that! Mr. Polk bids you to give to him, not to the BRAVE OLD TAYLOR, the glory of this Mexican war.

Letter from Gen. Taylor.—We understand, says the New York Mirror of yesterday, that there is a letter in town from Gen. Taylor, written in reference to his nomination for the Presidency, in which he expresses a preference for Henry Clay over every other candidate yet named, and for Crittenden and McLean next. But notwithstanding, that these are his preferences over all others, he still candidly avows that he is not indifferent to the will of the people, and rather intimates that he will feel himself bound to accept the Presidency if the people should persist in thrusting it upon him. So, let us hear no more about his declining the nomination. He is not one of the sort to shirk his duty.

The Boston Post says, in reference to the determination of the people to make General Taylor President, that it takes two to make a bargain. These Tories are such inveterate political hucksters, that they cannot believe it possible for a President to be elected without a bargain being struck between them and the candidate, and without attributing to the people sordid motives. But 1848 will teach them that the people are not so corrupt as they imagine them to be.

The boundary line between Massachusetts and Rhode Island, which has been in dispute since 1791, was settled a few days ago by the commissioners appointed to establish it.

The Indiana papers are calling upon Mr. Kennedy, late M. C. from that State, to muster his corn-cob Regiment, (under the recent call of the President for more volunteers) with which he boasted while in Congress he would whip Mexico if she dared to go to war with us, but they call in vain. You never will catch Polk, Kennedy, Picklin, Thompson, Buchanan, Marcy, Ritchie, and that tribe going to the battle-field to fight in the war of their own creation!

The following are the recently appointed members to compose the Levy Court of this County: J. F. Cox, Henry Taylor, Joshua Pierce, Charles R. Belt, John Cox, Robert White, Lewis Carbery.

But what, at last, (says Mr. Webster at the late dinner in Richmond) are military achievements!—It is true they have fixed the fate of nations, turned the tide of human affairs. But, after all, what is their end but to establish free government and promote public prosperity?

It is a terrible resort, but it becomes necessary in the order of events. Our government is any thing but free, and our affairs any thing but prosperous. This war has produced a ZACHARY TAYLOR. His elevation to the Presidency is necessary to re-establish free government and promote public prosperity. It will be the end of this work.

The "obscure abstraction" of the Tory Union, after violently denying that General Taylor is a Whig, is forced at last to admit that the Whig presses and Whig committees, who have nominated the old Hero for the Presidency, would not have taken so decided a step, except, upon sure information, that he was a staunch Whig. Stick a pin there!

The Tory Boston Post says that the Whigs connect business with politics. To be sure they do, and it is right they should, to counteract the wicked measures of the Tories, who make a business of politics!

The tory Boston Post asks what the Whigs mean to do! They mean to give you and your party a Buena Vista thrashing in 1848, and make ZACHARY TAYLOR the President of the United States. Are you satisfied, sir?

Capt. Duff's company of dragoons will sail, with a full complement of men, from Fort Hamilton for Point Isabel, on Friday next. There will depart at the same time Captain Wilder's company of the 10th regiment of Infantry. The last detachment of Capt. Temple's regiment is rapidly concentrating at Fort Hamilton, and will be fully prepared to move on the 19th instant.

One hundred and ten Tory members of Congress, says the Albany Journal, voted a censure upon Gen. Taylor, for his merciful capitulation at Monterey. This insult was intended to so depreciate his fitness for the chief command, that the people would sanction the appointment of Benton as Lieut. General. The effect of it, however, was very different from what was intended. The vote designed to disgrace the old soldier, will fasten infamy upon its authors.

By insulting and endeavoring to supersede him, says the Albany Journal, the administration hoped Gen. Taylor would resign; and by withdrawing all his regular troops, they hoped he would retreat. But he would neither resign nor retreat. If he had done either, he would have been disgraced. Doing neither, he will be President. The fowls are destined to be caught in their own snares.

We noticed, says the Steubenville, Ohio, Herald of Saturday last, a poor servant girl about sixteen years of age passing up Market street yesterday, bare footed and miserably clad—not sufficiently so to protect her person from the "pitiless peltings" of the storm, being doubtless parentless and friendless, without mental improvement—a slave, she is compelled to toil on in the drudgery of some opulent individual, without an equivalent. We have thought it but illy becomes us to talk of "Southern Slavery," for there is a slavery here—a slavery of rank—of intellect, a curse which rests upon poverty from the day of its birth—the above is an illustration.

Conundrums.—What tune makes the most agreeable music on a hot day—Banks of Ayr.

What was the bitterest portion of Cesar's life!—That spent in taking Gaul.

Why was Santa Anna's attempt to take 'Old Rough and Ready,' like a woman with her face uncovered!—It was without a veil.

Why is a lady with a large bustle, a coquette!—There is deception in her size (sighs).

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 13.
"Here, too, as with you, the restless tide of General Taylor's popularity is overflowing every thing. I know him personally and esteem him highly, and with him for our candidate we shall sweep the tory scoundrels off the political board forever.

To the Editor of the National Whig.
Sir: I am much obliged to you for the compliments you are pleased to give in your paragraph relating to me, published on Monday last; but I beg you to correct the statement which you make, that I have received the appointment of Postmaster in N. Orleans. I have not received that appointment; have not applied for it; and have not entertained any intention to apply for it.
Respectfully, your obedient servant,
WM. CAREY JONES.
Washington, May 5, 1847.

Speaking of the gigantic prospect of building a canal across Tehuantepec, the New York Courier says: "But what excites our special wonder, is, that an administration and a party which can find no warrant in the Constitution of the United States for making a canal round the Falls of St. Mary for instance, can see no constitutional difficulty in undertaking such an imperial work in a far distant land as any ship canal between the two oceans must be."

Quoting the endorsement of the Tehuantepec project by the Union, the New York Courier says: "Here are no misgivings as to constitutional power; no limit of strict construction; and the very press that applauds Presidential Vetoes on river and harbor bills within our own acknowledged limits, can see no evils, nor wrong, nor violation of strict construction, in the great and magnificent project, which, it says, with so much seeming satisfaction, is receiving careful consideration at the hands of the administration."

All the Tories of this State in the House of Representatives, Boyd, Martin, and Tibbatts voted for the resolution of censure upon Gen. Taylor. Tibbatts has received a commission from Mr. Polk and is about to join the army in Mexico. We hope, says the Louisville Journal, his career will be more glorious than that of the old veteran whom he deems worthy of censure.

The Uniontown Democrat in some good remarks on advertising says, in reply to business men of the old school who denounce advertising as a humbug, that "it is better to be a humbug than a bug that can't hum at all."

A Democrat of Monroe, La., writing to the Charleston Mercury, says, that he cannot stand the intolerance of Ritchie the great whipper-in of the Tory party and his masters any longer. He is not alone in his refusal to submit to the old man's Hectorings. Ecce Virginia Elections!

Like master like man, is an old but a true saying. Polk forgot to mention in his last message that one Zachary Taylor stormed and carried Monterey under circumstances of illustrious mercy. Com. Perry likewise forgot to state that Lieut. Hunter captured Alvarado and Commodore Stockton in his recent despatches entirely forgot even to allude to Gen. Kearney or his soldiers in the battles of California!

Some of the federal whig papers, indulge in the habit of applying the term "tory" to the Democrats. This application comes with a peculiarly good grace from the organs of a party which has enrolled among its members all the lineal descendants of the Tories of the revolutionary, and the blue light federalists of the late war!—Nyrivtown Register.

The above comes with a peculiarly bad grace, says the U. S. Gazette, from a paper which is sustained by federalists—that advocates the old federalists of 1812—that sticks to Mr. Buchanan, who never had "a drop of democratic blood in his veins."

The excuse that Santa Anna could have returned to Mexico without Mr. Polk's admission, would, if admitted, says the Albany Evening Journal, justify almost any act of treason or outrage. Arnold might have said that if he had not accepted the price proffered for the betrayal of his country, some one else would; and as an act of treason was inevitable, he might as well be the traitor as another! But neither Arnold nor Judas was vile enough to add to their infamy by so pitiful an excuse. (The latter but wrought out an inevitable result. Nevertheless it would have been "better for him that he had never been born.") 'Tis much needs to be that offences come, but we unto him by whom they come.' To seriously urge it would be to add ridicule to infamy.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Markets. Housekeepers complain, and justly, of the exorbitant price of commodities. A chicken large enough to satisfy a moderate appetite, cost, this morning, thirty-seven and a half cents, and butter from thirty-seven and a half to fifty cents per lb! Other edibles in proportion.

The May Ball at Jackson Hall, last night, was a splendid affair. Miss C. Keyworth was crowned queen.

The recruits for Mexico marched through the streets this morning, and to the War Department, headed by their respective commanders.

The Water-Witch, which was hauled up some time since at the Navy Yard, for repairs, was this morning restored to her element.

Wm. B. Webb, esq., is to deliver a lecture this evening before the Irving Association. The subject: "Consistency." Mr. Bones says that Mr. Polk and Mr. Ritchie should be in attendance.

An Invitation. Will one of those who are continually complaining of a dearth of news, be pleased to break his neck or a leg, for the benefit of the public?

Sons of Belial have lately wantonly and wickedly injured and rendered useless several of the public pumps in the First Ward. The commissioner will give ten dollars for information which may lead to their detection and conviction.

"MARK TIME."
Our 'Executive chief,' madly bent upon fame, And anxious to get himself a great name, That might ring through the land and the nations afar, Plunged us 'heels over head' in the Mexican war. But the laurel wreath'd circlet fell not upon 'Polk'; His visions of greatness all ended in smoke; For the evergreen chaplets of glory, I wot, Proudly rest on the brows of brave Taylor and Scott. Now, freemen come forth! be resolved and stand steady To fill the 'state chair' with 'Old brave Rough and Ready.' Then, while your proud flag glitters bright with his star, Let the eagle-eyed Scott head the Bureau of war. Stonington, Ct., April, 1847.

MARRIED.
On Tuesday, the 4th instant, by the Rev. Mr. Morgan, ANDREW P. HOOVER, Esq. to Miss JULIA BARNICLOE, all of this city.
On the 5th of January, by the Rev. Mr. Bean, JOHN W. PAGEOT, Esq. to Miss E. O. TALBOTT, all of this city.
On the 29th ultimo, by the Rev. Thos. Castleman, WM. HENRY TAMS and MARIE ANTOINETTE, daughter of the Hon. Daniel Smith, all of Rockingham county, Virginia.

DIED.
On the morning of the 5th instant, at his residence in Georgetown, in the 75th year of his age, General WALTER SMITH, for many years among the leading merchants of this District, and widely known and esteemed for his enterprise, public spirit, probity, and philanthropy.
His funeral will take place on Friday afternoon, the 7th instant, at 4 1/2 o'clock, which the friends of the family are invited to attend without further notice.

DIED, in the city of New Orleans, on the 24th ultimo, Capt. ALEXANDER J. SWIFT, of the corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, aged 37 years.

DR. C. A. VAN ZANDT'S Health Restorative Pills is a medicine which not only cures but prevents disease, capable of great results, and equally calculated to be safely used for apparently small ones. We all know how dreadful and dangerous a seated bilious disorder is, and we are also well aware of the seeming insignificance of its first warnings or incipency. The individual suffering from slight pains in his chest, back, or stomach, or from occasional nausea, dull headache, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, trifling prevarication of appetite, and other disagreeable visitations so commonly and foolishly looked upon as unimportant, may not know that these symptoms, treated so contemptuously, are the consequences of a diseased state of the liver, which, if not remedied, will lead either to speedy death or a long train of unbearable ills which are known by the following names: Hypochondria, mania, dizziness, slow fevers, epilepsy, asthma, dropsy, rheumatism, chlorasia, convulsions, nausea, nervousness, cramps, gout, pleurisy, jaundice, irritability, and violence, dyspepsia, hysteries, scurvy, foul stomach, dry coughs, glandular affections, colds, lingering sore throats, various disorganizations of the great intestine, strictures and spasmodic complaints internally, eruptions, shortness of breath, heartburn, neuralgia, vital inflammation, flatulence, gastric fevers, &c.

Sometimes, too, there ensues an irregular action of the heart. Take these pills and suffer no more.
